Dear Teachers

Please note the following instructions

1. Online classes will start tomorrow. There will be only one session tomorrow and that would be conducted by Class Teacher. Prepare well for an orientation session; focus on the character formation of students, their habits, discipline, class room guidelines. Tomorrow you can arrange class in a convenient time
2. Tuesday onwards there will be two sessions as the given time table. First session should be handled by class teacher for this entire week. Second session can be allotted for one subject each for this week.

3. Class teachers - take attendance, build a rapport with students and parents, understand the difficulties of students and parents, consult each day with other staffs, and by end of this week - the time table, time, and other concerns has to be solved, and should bring students to study track. You can even invite someone to orient students (with permission). Class teachers please take care of your students and give them your best.

4. Book distribution will start this week; teachers should assist for the same on the prescribed dates.

All the best for the New Academic Year
